Turning Pages Together: A message from the Director

A Year of Growth and Gratitude

This past year was one of incredible growth for the Frankenmuth Wickson District Library. We welcomed 590 new cardholders, bringing our total to over 5,000, and saw record numbers for our programs, circulation, and building spaces.

Nearly 12,000 people attended library programs last year—the highest attendance ever for the Frankenmuth Wickson District Library. To reach this milestone, we hosted more than 90 children’s programs and 88 tween and teen programs, including our popular monthly Library After Hours events planned in collaboration with our Teen Advisory Board. In the Children’s Wing, new opportunities for dramatic play and free play encourage learning through imagination, movement, and reading, while our programs engage all the senses and invite parents to join in the fun. For adults, we offered over 160 programs, from book discussions and workshops to local history presentations and outreach visits to assisted living facilities. Partnerships with the City of Frankenmuth and Community Education continue to help us bring even more programming to the community, including Movie Matinees, All Abilities Bingo, and more. We also joined forces with local organizations like Restore Food Cupboard and Sleep in Heavenly Peace as donation drop-off sites, and with Morning Rotary for Back-to-School supplies—strengthening our commitment to serving the community both inside and beyond our walls.

This past year also marked an exciting change as we went fine-free on July 1, removing barriers to access and making the library even more welcoming for everyone. We reduced prices on office services and continue to look for ways to operate responsibly and efficiently, ensuring every dollar is used to benefit our patrons. Beyond programs, our new Wickson Library StoryWalk in Heritage Park has quickly become a favorite family activity, combining literacy, movement, and outdoor fun. Inside the library, our community and study rooms stay busy every day with groups and individuals collaborating, studying, and creating. Digital services also continue to grow—each day, new readers discover free eBooks and audiobooks through Libby, while Kanopy offers thousands of streaming movies and children’s shows for all ages.

This year’s success is a true reflection of our dedicated staff, generous donors, and the incredible support of our community. As we navigate rising costs and fewer outside funding opportunities, your continued support ensures we can keep offering the programs and services our community loves. Looking ahead, we’re excited to build on this momentum with even more opportunities, resources, and connections—and we can’t wait to share our updated strategic plan in early 2026. We hope to see you at the library soon!

Michelle

Ways to Support your library

The library accepts monetary donations to the general fund, as a memorial to someone you would like to honor, or toward the future health of the library through the Johanson Endowment and Capital Improvement Funds, administered by the Frankenmuth Community Foundation.

The library can also accept gifts of stock, bonds, or other securities. These contributions not only help sustain library programs and services, but they may also offer tax advantages to the donor. If you’re interested in making a gift of securities, please contact the Library Director for details.

Donation envelopes are available at the library, or you can donate easily from our website via PayPal or by scanning the QR code.

The Friends of the Frankenmuth Wickson District Library are a dedicated group of volunteers who support the library in countless ways. They lend their time and talents to projects like sorting seeds for the Seed Library, maintaining the library garden, and hosting special programs such as Rosie the Riveter and Abele’s Green House & Garden Center. The Friends also provide generous financial support for initiatives like the Summer Reading Program.

Meeting quarterly to plan programs and sponsorships, the Friends’ main fundraiser is the popular Used Book Sale—proceeds directly benefit the library and its patrons. The Friends of the Library are vital to the success and vibrancy of our library community. Consider becoming a Friend today—it’s a small commitment with a big impact!
